

Litza Stark2326 33rd Street, Astoria, NY 11105

917.449.6572

yell@litza.org

SUMMARY

More than 5 years experience developing sophisticated websites and online tools in a variety of open-source languages and frameworks.

COMPUTER SKILLS

Languages

- Proficient in: PHP, Perl, Ruby, JavaScript, (X)HTML, CSS
- Familiar with: Java, Visual Basic, C++

Software

- Database: Microsoft Access, MySQL
 - Design: Photoshop, Illustrator, Dreamweaver
 - Statistics: SPSS
 - Platforms: Windows, Macintosh, Linux (Apache web server)
-

EXPERIENCE

Manager, Internet Systems

2001-2007

National Center for Children in Poverty, Columbia University (nccp.org)

- Develop and maintain multiple external and internal websites in PHP, Perl, and Ruby on Rails
- Responsible for maintaining Apache web server
- Develop and maintain online tools including survey systems, listservs, and mailing lists
- Developed Access databases for storing large databases of multi-year, multi-state policy and demographic data

Web Development Consultant

2001-Present

Jonathan Dragon Books (jonathandragon.com)

- Developed and maintain commerce websites in PHP and Ruby on Rails
 - Created back-end systems for maintaining online content
-

EDUCATION

Columbia University

2003-Present

New York, NY

- Master's in Public Health in Sociomedical Sciences (in progress)

University of Delaware

1997-2001

Newark, Delaware

- B.A., Computer science and Spanish linguistics (minors in psychology and cognitive science)
- Research intern 1999 and 2000 at AT&T Labs-Research; co-authored poster presentation at the International Conference on Speech and Language Processing (2000) and paper at Eurospeech Conference (2001)
- Research assistant in computer science and cognitive science; co-authored paper for the Conference of User Modeling (2001)
- Teaching assistant for honors C++ courses

Sarah Lawrence College

1996-1997

Bronxville, New York